Anjuman-I-Islam's Institute of Hospitality Management (AIH-IHM) library is partially automated, leveraging e-Granthalaya, an open-source Integrated Library Management System (ILMS) developed by the National Informatics Centre (NIC). This system allows the library to efficiently manage various operations such as cataloguing, membership management, issue and return tracking, and generating reports on borrowed books, fines for late returns, and received books. This system helps in streamlining library functions, providing a more organized and accessible service to its users.

In addition to the automated system, the library offers a vast collection of e-resources to support the academic curriculum and research activities. The library also provides remote access to e-books and other resources, allowing students and faculty to use the materials from anywhere, at any time. This makes the library's resources accessible even outside the physical boundaries of the college campus, enhancing learning opportunities.

The library occupies a space of 1,060 square feet, located on the first floor of the college building, making it easily accessible from all corners of the campus. It is designed to accommodate 50 students and 10 faculty members at any given time, ensuring that there is enough seating and resources for everyone. The library is equipped with dedicated research computers that are connected to high-speed internet, enabling students, faculty, and researchers to conduct their academic activities efficiently.

To further enhance the research experience, the library has also created an E-Library space with dedicated computers for students and faculty to access online databases, journals, and other resources..

Regarding library expenditures, records of purchases for books, journals, and other resources are carefully maintained through the library's audited statement of expenses. Currently, the library does not feel the need to invest in paid subscriptions to e-resources, as the open-access resources available sufficiently meet the needs of the students and faculty. This open access model is particularly valuable given the specialized nature of the courses offered at the institute, especially in the hospitality management field.
